Re: Letter in Support of Professor Myron Evans for the Wolf Prize

To Whom It May Concern:

I submit this letter in support of Myron Evans, as recipient of the Wolf Prize. I have worked closely with this gentleman for approximately ten years. Myron has devoted his life to the betterment of mankind through the advancement of science, undergoing many hardships in the past when many of his contemporaries did not appreciate his progressive approach to the subject. His discoveries are numerous, and contribute tremendously to the advancement of the fields of physics and chemical physics, providing a scientific basis for numerous technological advancements that are occurring now and will in the years to come.

I say this in all sincerity,
